September Meeting at the Agnes

Our first KHS meeting of the autumn season, on Wednesday, September 17th at 7:30 pm, welcomes members and guests to Queen's University's beautiful Agnes Etherington Art Centre.

Speaker Carolyn Dowdell, a PhD candidate in Art History, will present a lecture about the stunning and well-attended exhibit which she curated at the gallery this past summer. The Agnes Etherington Art Centre has an extensive collection of historical clothing representing Kingston's past. Included are many fine ensembles that belonged to Agnes Etherington herself (1880-1954), a remarkable individual known not only for her passionate development of art and music at Queen's University but also for her affinity for elegant couture clothing.

The exhibit, Artful Dressing: The Fashion of Agnes Etherington, includes a luxurious black and gold evening gown from 1912 to 1914, her wedding dress from 1921, as well as the classic green dress she wore when society portraitist and Kingston artist Grant Macdonald famously captured her image on canvas. Tours this summer have featured selections of art she donated to the university and a walk through her home, which is now structurally part of the art centre.

This is an excellent opportunity to learn more about Agnes McCausland Richardson Etherington who contributed so much to the life of Kingston and the art of our country.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT, Peter Gower

Welcome to the new year of activities presented by the Kingston Historical Society. We are just beginning a long series of commemorations, all the way to 2023, when we celebrate the 350th anniversary of the founding of Kingston. This year marks the 200th anniversary of the birth of Sir John A. Macdonald, one of Kingston's most formidable sons, and Canada's first Prime Minister. And it has been 100 years since the beginning of the Great War. In 2017 we celebrate Canada's 150th birthday. I am confident there will be much activity around these themes as the Society moves forward.

We enjoyed wonderful weather and an excellent speech at the Macdonald graveside commemoration service on June 6th. Many thanks to all who work together so diligently, year after year, to sustain this special KHS and Kingston tradition. Our appreciation is also extended to the highly qualified interpreters who ran our Murney Tower Museum this summer. If you did not have a chance to stop by, please put it onto your calendar for next summer as a "must see and show to visitors".

When we first meet on September 17th at the Agnes Etherington Art Centre, you will have stories to tell about your historical experiences and trips this summer. And, of course, you had two Historic Kingston publications to read. Marcus Letourneau now takes over the editorship. Your Council is planning a festive and celebratory awards gathering in December. The traditional Sir John A. Macdonald dinner, which will take place on the 10th of January 2015 at RMC, this time on a Saturday evening, not the usual 11th, will be unique, to mark the bicentennial. Some delightful special enhancements are being planned, including live period music for your listening pleasure and stately pageantry at the pre-dinner reception. And our Annual General Meeting is scheduled for February. If you have creative suggestions around any of these events, please let us know. Looking forward to chatting with you at our Wednesday evening meetings. Peter

123rd Anniversary of the Passing of Sir John A. Macdonald, June 6th, 1891 Cataraqui Cemetery National Historic Site

John Boyko, Canadian historian and acclaimed author, delivered an inspiring and thought-provoking address as the guest speaker this year. He spoke about how Macdonald's extraordinarily tenacious negotiating skills helped save Canada after the American Civil War in 1871.

The service this year was favoured by perfect, early summer weather. Chair Alan MacLachlan, once again, created a memorable and moving event honouring our First Prime Minister with respectful dignity at his final resting place. Special thanks go to the many people and organizations contributing to the successful continuation of this Kingston tradition.

EXPERIENCING HISTORY

The Spencerville Regency Ball

Limelight articles about personal visits to historical sites and events by KHS members are received with much pleasure. Member Brian Porter has responded to the invitation with an account of his exploration, together with his wife Renee, of Regency period dances, social graces and dress in Spencerville in May. (Ed.)

Grace and gallantry were on display for the third annual Spencerville Regency Ball, in the village's old stone Town Hall, on the weekend of May 23/24, 2014. Mrs. Spencer's Regency Ball was organized once again by Vicki Cameron, known as "Belle of the Ball", and attracted English Country Dancers from Toronto, Ottawa, Brockville and Ogdensburg N.Y.

Dance master David Smukler, from Syracuse New York, led the dance workshops on Friday evening and Saturday morning, with clear and patient explanation. At the Ball he guided the dancers through historic dances such as Braes of Dornoch (1757), Trip to Tunbridge (1793), The Dusty Miller (1726), Leather Lake House (1788) and Barbarini's Tambourine (1745).

Live music of the period was played by the trio Flora Burn from Syracuse, with Eileen Nicholson on violin, Laurel Sharp on oboe, recorders and whistles, and Roberta Truscello on piano. These dedicated musicians played for all dance workshops, callers' workshops and the Ball.

The dancers, elegantly attired in their Jane Austen-era ensembles, enjoyed an evening of lively English Country Dancing, interrupted after two hours for a light repast, before continuing for another hour.

Historic dances and dance melodies are being kept alive here in Eastern Ontario.

SPEAKER'S CORNER

article by Ron Ridley

The May meeting of the Society featured Professor Joe Scanlon, ably assisted by two doctoral students, Casey Hurrell and Nicole Marion, who spoke on the influenza pandemic that took place at the end of the First World War. This team's approach to research on the epidemic relied upon looking at three Ontario locations: Kenora, St. Thomas and Kingston. They examined newspapers and church records of each of the communities.

Initially, the threat of the epidemic was downplayed, followed by the closing of schools, churches, theatres and other locations of assembly in order to prevent communication of the disease. Since many men were overseas in the military, an appeal went out to women volunteers to nurse the sick. Many people remained at home in an era of paid medical services. Kingston, however, opened an emergency hospital and both Hotel Dieu and KGH admitted ward patients, meaning more people died in hospital than at home, as occurred also in other communities. Although many people perished, it appears that dealing with the sick was more of a logistical problem.

Although known as the Spanish flu, recent research has revealed that the source of the disease was from the American west and was spread by military troop movements as they were transported overseas, and then returned to North America at the end of the Great War.

Professor Scanlon and his team answered a number of questions regarding the epidemic following the presentation.

KUDOS AND THANKS

Commemorating the Great War

Peter Gower, our KHS President, has developed a driving tour highlighting the historic sites associated with the First World War in Kingston. The route consists of 26 locations over 36 kilometres. The accompanying booklet is a comprehensive work, full of surprising photos that can be compared to scenes seen today.

Poignant personal stories from the war years add a special dimension. Research revealed that the famous song K-K-K-Katy was written by Geoffrey O'Hara in 1917 while he was staying at a cottage in Collins Bay and visiting relatives in Kingston. His pretty and vivacious cousin was Katy Richardson, who lived at 194 Johnson Street. The song was polished at the cottage piano and played at a garden party at A.M. Rankin's home. Young Katy died in 1922. Both Katy and Geoffrey are buried in the Cataraqui Cemetery.

This project commemorates the 550 men and women from the Kingston area who went away to war and never returned. Copies may be purchased at Novel Idea Bookstore (156 Princess Street), the Visitor Information Centre across from City Hall, and many Kingston museums.
